

PRESIDENT MAPS POLICY FOR NATION TO PURSUE ON LUSITANIA TRAGEDY

EXTRA SESSION OF CONGRESS WILL BE NECESSARY TO DEAL WITH SITUATION.

BERNSTORFF 'REGRETS'

German Ambassador in Visit to Bryan Today Expresses Concern Over Loss of Life—Details of Conference A Secret.

London, May 10.—The Central news dispatch from Munich declares German submarine U-29 was responsible for the sinking of the Lusitania.

Washington, May 10.—Speculation as to what the United States probably will do as a protest against the torpedoing of the Lusitania with the loss of one hundred American lives, developed among officials and diplomats today. The general opinion was that President Wilson would express any policy he pursues as a denunciation of the act as inexcusable under the laws of nations and humanity. It is now certain that the president does not intend to call congress in extra session. This disposes of the present, at least, of the suggestion that Germany's action will cause the United States to be drawn into the European conflict.

Wilson Studied Situation. President Wilson continued his consideration of the Lusitania disaster in session at the White House, but it was indicated before many days had passed he would let the country know what step he had decided upon. While officials reiterated that the president would not allow himself to be hurried into a hasty decision, they realized that public sentiment favors a prompt declaration of what the United States will do.

Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, called on Secretary Bryan today and expressed "deep regret that events of war should take so many American lives."

Whether the expression was made in instruction to the government or his own initiative was not made clear, by the ambassador nor explained by Mr. Bryan inasmuch as it was the first statement of its kind since America's entry into the war. The official quarters of the ambassador's statement was the usual broad expression which diplomatic representatives are permitted to make when a disaster occurs to citizens of a friendly country.

The action of the German ambassador, however, will have little effect on the policy to be pursued. It was said, however, that the German government makes former apology, specifically for loss of Americans on Lusitania, and promises reparation.

Search for Bodies. The state department today cabled Consul Frost to get in touch, if possible, with the captain of the American ship St. Paul and ask if the St. Paul was floating bodies.

discuss the matter," he continued, "but I must make it plain that in no way can I make it possible to make public the naval dispositions for patrolling our coast."

Superior, Wis., May 10.—After leaving the Lusitania with a load of survivors one of the life boats capsized according to cables which relatives here received from O. H. Hammond of New York. Mr. and Mrs. Hammond were together in the life boat when it capsized. They became separated. Mr. Hammond was picked up and his wife lost and the last message says there is no hope that she is among the survivors. The Mrs. Hammond, in the list of rescued is probably Mrs. Fred Hammond of Toronto.

REAR ADMIRAL POTTER IS SIXTY-FIVE TODAY.

Whitehall, N. Y., May 10.—Rear Admiral William P. Potter, U. S. A., retired, celebrated his 65th birthday today. He was advanced for signal bravery during the Spanish-American war.

CALLS DESTRUCTION OF THE LUSITANIA GREAT ACHIEVEMENT

German Newspaper Expresses Joyful Pride in Latest Deed of Treacherous Submarines.

Amsterdam, via London, May 10.—The Cologne Volks Zeitung says: "The sinking of the Lusitania is a success of our submarines which must be placed beside the greatest achievements of this war. The sinking of the Giant English steamer is a success of moral significance which is still greater than material success. "With joyful pride we contemplate this latest deed of our navy. It will not be the last.

LONDON NEWSPAPER ATTACKS ASQUITH

Editorial Comment Attempts to Discourage Recruiting by Volunteers.

London, May 10.—Premier Asquith's statement that the government is perfectly satisfied with the recruiting for the new army has aroused the anger of the extreme conservatives, who have long demanded for the conscript system and thought the war would now force it on the country. But the government, evidently with the support of the great mass of the people, intends to stick to the volunteer system.

ALLIES ARE ADVANCING IN FLANDERS

FORCES UNDER JOFFRE AND FRENCH MEET SUCCESS IN LATEST OFFENSIVE MOVEMENT.

START BATTLE SUNDAY

Present Operations Will Be Pushed Home With Vigor in Opinion of British Military Experts.

London, May 10.—Since the battle of Nueve Chappelle in France, and the German reply to it in the Ypres canal, there has been no such important movement by British and French armies in the western arena of the war as now is in progress, according to official communications of both General Joffre and Field Marshal Sir John French, and in which the allies are meeting with success.

Obviously the British have been able to throw greater reinforcements into the field since the time when by the use of asphyxiating gas, the Germans forced them to fall back a fortnight ago.

RUSS ARMIES ARE PURSUED BY GERMANS

VICTORIOUS TEUTONS PUSH FORWARD AS RUSSIANS RETREAT FROM WEST GALICIA.

TAKE 70,000 CAPTIVES

Total Number of Prisoners Taken in Recent Fighting Will Reach 100,000 in German Claim.

Press Headquarters of Austrian Army, Western Galicia, May 10.—The first stage of the battle of West Galicia has been virtually concluded. The victorious troops under lead of German General August von Mackensen, after successfully breaking through all fortified lines of the Russian front our troops assembled for the reforming of a new offensive. They are bringing forward supplies left behind in concealed places.

Seventy thousand prisoners have been brought in. The number of prisoners in this part of the battle in Galicia will be increased, it is said, by 30,000. Between sixty and seventy guns have been captured, but as in the case of the battle of Mazurian lakes in February it is believed it is only a small portion of the guns left behind a broken Russian army.

MISTAKE SEARCHERS FOR GERMAN SPIES

British Arrest Two Americans Who Were Looking for Body of Relative—Consul to Aid.

Queenstown, May 10.—Lindell T. Bates, son of Linden W. Bates of New York, vice chairman of the American commission for the relief of Belgium, was arrested at Kinsale yesterday on a charge of espionage, while searching for the body of his brother, Linden W. Bates, Jr., who is said to have perished on the Lusitania. Bates, an American mining engineer, was taken into custody at the same time.

The sergeant who made the arrest, accused them of being officers of a German submarine. After being taken before a captain they were detained at the barracks a half hour until United States Consul Frost at Queenstown vouched for their innocence. Their search of the coast revealed no trace of the body of L. W. Bates, Jr.

MRS. KIMBALL DIED
AT HER HOME TODAY

Returned From Hospital on Friday Last and Retired Sunday Night, Apparently in Best of Spirits.
Friends of Mrs. George F. Kimball were shocked today to learn of her death, early this morning at the Kimball residence, 420 South Third street. For some time past Mrs. Kimball has been in poor health and was under treatment at the Mendota hospital. Last Friday, acting under advice of the physicians in charge of the case, Mr. Kimball brought his wife home, it being believed that the change would be most beneficial to her condition.
Physically Mrs. Kimball was apparently well and her delight at being home with her loved ones, her visits with her old friends and her family, her pleasure in everything, all gave evidence that the idea of a complete change of surroundings was what she had needed. Sunday she drove with her husband and children and spent the evening playing the piano and singing and retired in the best of spirits. Arising before the rest of the family, she went to the bathroom, evidently turned on the gas in the room, and when found a few minutes later, had passed to the world beyond. The end came peacefully and quickly, while she was suffering from one of her mental disturbances, the physicians had so long combated.
As Abbie Elizabeth Prichard, daughter of the late Judge Amos Prichard, is a life-long friend and resident of the city. She was married on June 17, 1896, to George F. Kimball, and her devoted husband and three sons, Dean, Lyman and Robert G., and a daughter, Alice, her mother, Mrs. Amos Prichard, two sisters, Mrs. John McNaught, and Miss Charlotte Prichard, are left to mourn her loss.
Mrs. Kimball was a devoted mother and wife, until her illness took her for the time being from their midst. She was a member of many little social organizations in which she always took an active part. Her funeral will be held on Wednesday from her late residence, 20 South Third street.

S. Shawyan.
S. Shawyan passed away peacefully at his home on Ruger avenue Saturday evening at seven o'clock, after a lingering illness.
Mr. Shawyan was born in Dodge county, near Iron Ridge, Wisconsin, Feb. 20, 1847. He was a self-made man, having worked his way through Lawrence University, at Appleton, Wisconsin, graduating with the class of 1873.
Since then for over forty years he was Wisconsin representative of D. M. Perry & Co., seedsmen, of Detroit, Michigan, and was held in highest esteem by merchants throughout the state.
He leaves besides a devoted wife, six children, four daughters and two sons, Clara B., at home; Mr. Geo. D. Sweet, Chicago; Mrs. E. R. Baker, Minneapolis; Mrs. A. Rice, Chicago; John Murat Shawyan, Janesville; Harry E. Shawyan, Oak Park, Illinois; also three brothers, Oscar Shawyan, Belvidere, Illinois; Renaud Shawyan, Denison, Iowa; Douglas Shawyan, Milwaukee, Wisconsin.
Mr. Shawyan was affiliated with Master Masons, Royal Arch Mason and Knights Templar of Janesville and Consistory and Shrine bodies of Milwaukee.
The funeral services will be held at the residence, 1425 Ruger avenue, D. Tuesday, May 11th, at 2 p. m., conducted by the Rev. John McKinney of Christ Episcopal church, assisted by Janesville Commandery Knights Templar.

John C. Hill, aged 69, passed away on Sunday after an illness lasting four months. Previous to his illness, Mr. Hill had served as a rural mail carrier, having been granted a six months' leave of absence by the government to regain his health. Complications set in that resulted in his demise.

MULCAIRNS ARRESTED ON FORMER CHARGES

Swear Out Second Warrant Against Thomas Mulcairns on Desecration Charge.—Sunday Drunk Sentenced.
Thomas "Snowball" Mulcairns again had the strong and long arm of the law reach out and grab him, on the charge of life desecration. Several months ago, Thomas was arraigned in the municipal court on the same charge and through his attorney obtained a change of venue which put his case over until October in the circuit court for Rock county. Then Mulcairns rested in ease, it is said, and did not contribute to the support of his wife. The warrant alleges he had her in desecrated circumstances since the time he was first arrested on the desecration charge. As the defendant was out of the county jail on his own recognizance, the authorities declare that he should have supported his wife.
Failing to do this, another warrant for the identical charge was sworn out and Chief Champion got Mulcairns Sunday in court the prisoner in his usual custom asked for a preliminary examination and then made haste to solicit the court to appoint a lawyer for him. His examination was set for Tuesday at 10 o'clock, and in default of $1,500 bail he was committed to the county jail.
According to the story given by Edward O'Brien, a stranger, a dollar side drug store owner violated the excise laws when he sold whiskey to an acquaintance of O'Brien Sunday morning. O'Brien in court told the officers he gave a stranger a dollar, on his promise to obtain liquor and the dollar being sufficient to provide the drug store bottle of "booze." The contents were sufficient to make the Harvard man gloriously drunk in the Court House park and he was arrested by Patrolman Handy. He was given five dollars or seven days.

PATIENT FASTED 56 DAYS
And Buttermilk "Did Taste Good at the End"—Lost Nearly One Hundred Pounds.
Warsaw, Ind.—After establishing a record for continuous fasting, Jim Robinson asked for a glass of buttermilk and as he slowly swallowed it, admitted that it tasted good. This was the first nourishment taken by Robinson, who is an inmate of the county infirmary, for eight weeks.

His long fast was due to lack of appetite and the fact that the taste and smell of food nauseated him. Physicians here declare his case has no parallel in medical history. Fifty-five days was held to be the limit of man's endurance, yet Robinson passed that mark by more than a day and is still alive.
During that period he lost nearly one hundred pounds. Except for being weakened, his general physical condition was not affected.

REINDEER MEAT FOR AMERICA
Interior Department Is Attempting to Open Up Industry for Eskimos.
Washington.—Reindeer meat may soon make its appearance on the American table as the result of efforts now being made by the department of the interior through the bureau of education to introduce reindeer meat into the continental United States. It is said to possess a flavor as fine almost as that of venison.
Heretofore virtually the entire supply of reindeer meat was needed for home consumption, but recently there has been such a surplus that government officials have decided to open up this industry for the Eskimo natives. At present there are 65 herds of reindeer in Alaska, aggregating 57,872, an increase of 22 per cent in the last year.

TERRIER IN 24-HOUR VIGIL
St. Louis Dog Guards an Empty Basket Whole Day Without Yielding.
St. Louis.—Ignoring all blandishments, a skye terrier guarded an empty basket for 24 hours, until finally a boy made friends with the dog and coaxed it to his home, to which he also took the basket.
Persons living in the neighborhood first observed the dog at its vigil the previous afternoon. It refused to let anybody touch the basket, and could not be lured away by tempting offers of food.
Mrs. J. J. Wilkins carried food and water to the dog and gave it a sack to lie upon. King Ambler, fourteen-year-old son of Arthur Ambler, made overtures to the terrier for a long time before he won its confidence sufficiently for it to permit him to take the basket.
Who owned the dog and the basket could not be ascertained, and young Ambler said he hoped the owner would turn up.
Hadn't Forgotten.
A former bishop of Bath and Wells loved to impress on his ordination candidates the importance of a thorough study of the "Analogy" of Bishop Butler. "Good-by, my dear young friend," he once said in taking leave of a student at the palace door, and then earnestly added: "Whatever you do, don't forget the Butler." "Oh, my lord, I haven't," stammered out the youth, "I have just given him half a crown!"—T. P.'s Weekly.

ENGLISH GOLFERS TO MEET AMERICANS

Ray and Vardon Will Compete on Links Despite the Present War.

(By Hal Sheridan.)

New York, May 10.—Wherever golf is played throughout the United States the names of Ray and Vardon are now on the lips of followers of the sport. For these two great English players, who are soon to compete against the American players, are admired by all golfers in this country, both professional and amateurs.

the little white ball, both those who play it and those who play at it, like to talk of the performances of the champions of the game. This is human nature, for to the average sportsman the champion of his particular sport is a god. What but league player does not admire, and envy a little, too, Matty and Walter Johnson? Where is there a local tennis player who does not speak with awe of the game Williams and McLoughlin play? It is only human to admire and attempt to duplicate, perfection.

And in golf, Vardon and Ray are perfection. Born on the island of Jersey seven years apart they have practically played golf since they first stepped out of the cradle. Vardon was born in 1870 and Ray in 1877. As boys they devised home made, and homely sticks, but they served their purpose. Ray's first club was fashioned by his father. Vardon cut his from a stick out of the hedge, which made a natural driver.

HAS GUNBOAT SMITH RETIRED FROM RING?

Aspirations to White Championship May Have Made Good Threat.

(Special to the Gazette.)

New York, May 10.—Admirers of Gunboat Smith, the sailor fighter, are speculating whether he has actually retired, as he has so often threatened to do. Little has been heard of the once popular "white hope" for some time now and though Gunboat Smith himself has made no formal announcement of his withdrawal from the ring, fight fans fear that is just what has happened.

Nothing definite can be ascertained as to the contemplated bout between Smith and Mike Gibbons of St. Paul. The figure Gibbons set as what he thought should be his end of the purse was of course far beyond what even he expected to receive. It was $10,000, and before he meets Smith inside the ropes he will probably have revised that sum downward. Gibbons is a good fighter but a mill with Gunboat just now is not worth that money on anything near it.

MONTEREY STARS WIN SATURDAY MORNING GAME

The Monterey Stars had an easy time in defeating the Athletics, 24 to 12, Saturday morning. Jack Cantwell, the Athletics' mound man, was evidently somewhat more or less out of order during the fray, being unable to either get them across the home plate or to deliver any "foolers". Charlie Beck was on the pan for the Stars and more than held his own against the onslaughts of the team from the lower section of the city.

FLY KILLERS SWAT AT GOOD AVERAGES DURING PAST WEEK

School children fly-swatters brought about the demise of 1,700 of the pests during the past week despite their inactivity consequent on the adverse fly weather. William Close of St. Mary's parochial school, beat the list with a total of 400. Frances McCarthy of the Lincoln school was able to swat 300 as was Clifford Wendall. Lillian Connell of the Jefferson school and Hubert Hilton of the Adams building each secured 200, while Ethel Connell of the Jefferson and Anna Toldrian of the Lincoln killed 100.

WISCONSIN LOSES TO ILLINOIS NINE, 6 TO 1

Badger School's Chances for Conference Title Are Lowered.—Sucker Men Play Better Ball.

Wisconsin was outclassed at baseball Saturday at Madison by the Illinois aspirants for the conference title, the final score being 6 to 1. Four errors by the Badgers, and two singles for the visitors were responsible for the Sucker victory.

Gunkel, hurling for Illinois, held Wisconsin to three scattered hits. The losers counted their lone run in the sixth on a double by Pederson and a single by Roach. Five thousand fans watched the contest.

Wisconsin must win every remaining game on her schedule and Illinois must lose a contest in order that the Badgers can be given another chance for the flag.

MORRIS MILLER

Miller Huggins has it all his own way so far in winning the walk home in his first ten games as the microscopical manager ambled over the first leg of the quadrilateral fourteen times.

The Phillies are getting such a long lead that it looks as if Pat Moran thinks more of a fat percentage as a pennant foundation than miracle stuff.

Rather a remarkable series of games that the Red and Cubs recently played. The first was a tie of fifteen innings with a total of twenty-three hits; the second was a 13 to 12 affair with twenty-four hits; the third was a shutout; the fourth was a 9 to 8 battle with thirty-two hits. Twenty-three pitchers were used.

"Doak in condition," asserts a St. Louisian, "is the best right-hander in the National league, barring Alexander." And Tesreau, Rudolph, James and Adams still up and around!

Bill Carrigan, the manager of the Red Sox, admits that his team is in bad shape and that this is the reason for its rather poor showing to date. "Not only was the weather at Hot Springs far from what it should have been, but we have had but one good day since the season opened, and the result is that none of our players is really in shape. But a week of warm weather will put us on edge, and then we will be able to show something. I have by no means given up hope of finishing at the top of the race. It is going to be a hard fight, but I believe that when we are intact we have the strength to accomplish this feat."

Evidently President Lannin of the Red Sox admits that his team is in to most ball players who own autos and use them much. Dutch Leonard, one of the Red Sox hurlers, invited Lannin to take a spin with him in his machine that he recently bought.

Close friends of Clark Griffith, those who know him well, declare that he is no chronic pennant claimer, as so often pictured.

Williams of the Cubs hit a ball in Cincinnati which was so long that it was a triple instead of a home run. Had it struck the ground nearer in it would have bounded into the right field bleachers. At it was it struck so close to the wall that it bounded back. That's the disadvantage of being too strong.

Lannin accepted and on the ride told Leonard that if the Red Sox won the A. L. championship this season he would refund Leonard the price of the machine. Lannin should consult the Athletics' record of 1912 or the late lamented Naps to see what happens to teams whose players go auto mad.

THE LUSITANIA.

Never in its history has the United States been in need of cooler heads and men of deliberate judgment in the crisis of the Lusitania. The sinking of the ship, the death of the American citizens, the awful toll for foreigners in the marine disaster, has stirred the entire civilized world, as no previous action in the present European struggle has.

The Anglo-American world has President Wilson declare immediately upon the nation responsible for the disaster, but cooler heads and more mature deliberation of the situation show the folly of such an action. What it would involve, the suffering it would entail, would make the present disaster seem infinitesimal. The action of President Wilson, however, must be firm in this crisis and it is to be hoped that he will find a solution out of the difficulty that will be drastic enough to meet the demands and yet be creditable to the doctrine and policies of the United States.

It is interesting to note the attitude of the press throughout this country and Europe in this crisis. From Germany comes press dispatches quoting editorialists from leading German papers. The Cologne Gazette, while deprecating the drowning of non-combatants, adds: "The news will be received by the German people with unanimous satisfaction, since it proves to England and the whole world that Germany is quite in earnest in regard to her submarine warfare." It follows by a defense of the action of the submarine by stating the Lusitania was armed and carried contraband of war.

The Berliner Tageblatt says: "With deep emotion we learn of the destruction of the Lusitania in which countless lives were lost. We lament with sincere hearts their hard fate, but we know we are completely devoid of blame."

The Tages Zeitung of Berlin says: "The American government probably will make the case the basis for diplomatic action, but it could have prevented the loss of American lives by appropriate instructions. It is the American government's fault, therefore, if it did not take Germany's zone declarations seriously enough."

The Lokal Anzeiger also assumes that the steamer was carrying munitions, saying that this and "the fact that she was a fully armed cruiser completely justifies her destruction under the laws of warfare."

The Krense Zeitung after referring to the warning issued by Ambassador von Bernstorff adds:

"If citizens of neutral states were lost with the sunken ship they must bear the full blame."

Some papers further justify the sinking of the liner because on a previous occasion she had resorted to the expedient of flying the American flag.

Germany, the clerical organ, deprecates probable attempts by Germany's antagonists to make moral capital against her out of the sinking of the steamship and the loss of life. The paper says: "We can look forward to such efforts with a clear conscience, for we have proceeded correctly. We can only answer those who place their sympathies above justice that war is war."

Paris.—The Journal Des Debats says: "The moment will come when the protestations of the human conscience will have their effect. Justice moves with heavy feet, but it manages nevertheless to find its hours. One is compelled today to ask the question whether Germany is not seeking to antagonize all the world in order to have an excuse in the event of its people for the inevitable capitulation. It is the policy of the Lusitania is a military exploit of the same quality as the burning of Louvain and the destruction of the Rheims cathedral."

The Chicago Herald sums up the situation by saying: "Our German-American friends and fellow citizens, through their press and in interviews, lay great emphasis on the 'warning' which the German government gave to their American fellow citizens slaughtered on board the Lusitania."

"Why do they so completely ignore that other 'warning' which the government of the United States—their government, to which they owe and at least profess allegiance—gave to the German government with respect to the 'strict accountability' to which it would be held by the American people if American lives should be snuffed out in the German submarine campaign?"

ment, threatening him with death if he goes along with the public highway upon his lawful business? Or to that of his own government promising him protection wherever on the world's highway he might travel in a peaceable manner with lawful interests?

"In a word, should American citizens turn their eyes and ears for guidance to Washington or to Berlin?" The conservative newspaper Nya Dagligt Allehanda, of Stockholm, which has always manifested pro-German sympathies, commenting on the Lusitania, says:

"A cry of horror and indignation will rise from the civilized world. If the Germans have sunk the floating palace solely because it was British, it is an unpardonable crime against humanity."

"One can hardly understand how an officer of the German navy could be able to perpetrate such an act. We must presume that the Germans had discovered that there were arms and munitions aboard. But the act remains, nevertheless, revolting and horrible."

"The mad and reckless actions of German submarines," says the Afterpost of Christiania, editorially, "now has reached the culminating point. The whole world looks with horror and detestation on the event."

The Morgenbladet of Christiania says: "The sinking of the Lusitania puts for the time being all other events in the background and arouses the whole world over a feeling of horror. The Germans have meant to terrify; they have terrified their friends and terror breeds hate. German trade will feel this keenly when the war is over, especially in America."

The Giornale D'Italia of Rome says: "That such a large proportion of the peaceful travelers on the Lusitania last their lives sums up the atrocity of the crime, which struck down men, women, and children, persons of all ages, conditions of life and nationalities, who could not assist or injure either belligerent. The warning published in America against leaving a ship in the Lusitania shows that the crime was premeditated. Thus there are no extenuating circumstances."

The Chicago Tribune says: "The United States and Germany have reached a point at which alternative courses appear for this nation's choice. One is to accept in fact, with whatever protest in form, the new sea law which Germany has made and to adjust ourselves to it. The other is to decline to accept it, and if Germany will not modify it, to fight to the best of our power." It adds:

"One horn of the dilemma is to accept the sea law as the Germans make it, to accept it as the rule governing for the time, whether it is to be recognized in the future or not. Germany has set a war zone about the British Isles and along the coast of France. It is the German contention that it is as dangerous to enter that war zone as it would be to go between the French and German trenches. Civilians, the Germans contend, should not enter it."

"We may accept this German reasoning or reject it. We cannot continue to maintain that our citizens have a right to enter that war zone, under certain defined conditions, and continue to assure them that they have a right to enter, and continue also to argue with Germany while they are being killed."

"There is no more argument about it. Further words merely abuse, dishonor, and humiliate us."

The Milwaukee Sentinel says: "Words can not express the human tragedy and horror of the sinking of the Lusitania, nor sufficiently deplore the desperate extremities of this war of ruthless reprisals of which it is the latest illustration."

"It is sufficiently plain that the old rules and usages of so-called 'civilized warfare' are fast going by the board in this mad struggle, owing, partly, to the entirely new conditions made by the advent of that sinister American invention, the submarine, and, mainly, to the feeling in each of the chief combatants that it is fighting for its very existence against the ruthless aggressions of the other."

"It is emphatically a time for our people to keep their heads, to refrain from snap judgments and wild talk, and to remember that the Lusitania affair, in so far as it concerns us nationally, is distinctly one for the handling and determination of their own government which knows all the facts in all their bearings, and may be trusted to act with sobriety, patriotism, mature judgment, and for the best interests of the country and mankind."

The Milwaukee Daily News says: "Has Germany yet arrived at the point in the great struggle she is making for 'a place in the sun,' when apparently her forces, generally speaking as far as can be learned, are progressing favorably to her triumph, where she must appeal to the state-mut that 'necessity knows no law' as a justification for an act of the kind executed in connection with the destruction of the Lusitania?"

Germany's desperation were such that it exacted resort to sinking of non-combatant vessels on the high seas without giving opportunity to peaceful passenger occupants, men, women and children, to escape from almost immediate death her friends and even enemies perhaps could find some form of reason in the necessity that drove her to the action."

"Without even that kind of resort to such warfare in the absence of a desperate cause prejudice not only the belligerent power that avails of such cruelty of method, but embarrass all those who sympathize with its attitude."

"Victories won by such abandon of method cannot escape the criticism that comes from the application of moral tests. The method that strikes terror by its very abandon perhaps just to prove a power is not bluffing in war, serves to stir more deeply the regret of that power's sympathizers than it will exalt the prestige of the belligerent exercising it."

The Milwaukee Evening Wisconsin commends the attitude at Washington in the crisis which has been produced by the sinking of the Lusitania as discreet. President Wilson is aware of the importance attaching to his words under the portentous circumstances existing, and resolves to make no statement until definitely advised regarding the facts. As ex-President Taft suggests, the president is the American upon whom the responsibility of utterance devolves, and it is the part of patriotism to be patient, awaiting his discretion, and to be loyal, affording him moral support as president he speaks for the nation."

It adds, however, that "It is a time for Americans to think and act not as pro-Germans or pro-British, but as Americans. It is a time for the avoidance of heated arguments that settle nothing and tend to produce misunderstandings. It is, to borrow a phrase used at Washington recently with another application, a time for watchful waiting." The Mexican situation measures as a trifle compared with the problem now commanding attention. Impending events in the Orient seem very far away and of inferior significance. The popular imagination, as usual, has room for only one absorbing topic at a time, and that topic is furnished by what has happened to the Lusitania."

On the Spur of the Moment
ROY K. MOULTON

Extravagance. There was a young lady, and wasn't she laid out a dollar for powder and paint. With a pencil of bismuth her eye-brows to trace. And all for the purpose of making a face.

It wasn't so quaint as the scoffers suppose. To all of her make-up she added fine clothes. And landed a man with a radium mine. Who figures his fortune with numerical nine. So here is the moral: Use plenty of paint. Until you have made your face seem what it ain't. If you're preserving in playing this trumpery, It's possible always to fool some old chump.

UNCLE ABNER. Uncle Ezra Harkins says he hopes spring will hustle up, as he has only one parlor sofa and three rods of rail fence left for fuel. No man ever accomplished a great deal by talking about it. Miss Pansy Tibbits has a new spring hat. It is a genuine spring hat, for the framework is made out of some old sofa springs. "When a feller has got a car with electric lights and a self-starter, he doesn't seem to care much whether it has got an engine or not."

Office News. We are taking up a collection to buy our gentlemanly publisher a birthday present next July. It is always well to begin early on an enterprise of this kind. We can report progress, having accumulated 43 cents. We expect to buy him a pair of those bone-rimmed eyeglasses. He can't see some of our stuff now. Our beautiful Society Girl has bought herself a new calabash pipe. The gink who writes the women's page sprained his wrist the other day and anybody who ever tried to use the left hand with the right hand will sympathize with him.

Ain't It the Truth! Several Pawtucket young ladies have formed a walking club and every morning they take a hike out in the country, while mother is preparing the morning repast. The editor of the Pawtucket News frankly states that he believes the anti-beneficial effects could be secured were the young ladies to confine their morning walking from the kitchen range to the dining room table. It would at least have a restful effect on the tired mothers.

BIG POLICE CHIEF HAS LITTLE TO DO.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.) Grantburg, Wis., May 10.—This little place is a peaceful community. There aren't a dozen arrests made here in a year. Yet it has probably the biggest police chief in the world. He is just Anderson, and he is seven feet four inches high and weighs 340 pounds. "Big Gus," as he is familiarly known, was born in Sweden on Jan. 20, 1872. He was one of a family of seven children, all of whom were of average size. His mother is about three inches taller, and his father three inches taller. Gus came to this country when he was twenty years old. After working in a packing house in Omaha for a time he became a policeman in Superior. He came here in 1904 and was appointed chief of police in 1902. A job he has held ever since. Gus wears a No. 7 1/2 hat, shoes 14 1/2 inches long, a 52 inch coat, and trousers 44 by 39.

SHEBOYGAN COMMERCE BODY WANTS A STATE HOLIDAY.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Sheboygan, Wis., May 11.—The Association of Commerce will ask the legislature at this session to designate one day each year to be known as "Wisconsin Day." It is intended that this day shall not be a holiday, but that shall be made a special feature in the schools and press so that attention can be directed annually to the prominence of the state, occupies in agriculture manufacture and education. The local association will ask every similar organization in the state to co-operate in obtaining the observance of the day. May 29 has been suggested as the proper date, as that was the day on which the state was admitted to the Union in 1848. Another suggested, made by the association is the setting aside of one day a year to be known as "Cheese Day" and to be dedicated to the dairy industry. Wisconsin produces more than one half the cheese made in the United States. A day of this kind, observed by press and featured by grocers' associations, cheese makers' associations, cafes, hotels, and dining cars, would stimulate interest in cheese as a food product and would be in line with the present. PUBLIC CONCERT BYMAC DOWELL CLUB ON MONDAY NIGHT NEXT

Musical Organization With Thirty Members Plans Free Entertainment at Congregational Church.

On Monday evening, May 17th, the MacDowell club, one of the oldest and best of the city, will give a free concert at the Congregational church, to which the public is cordially invited. This musical organization has limited its membership to thirty, owing to the fact that this is about the number that can be accommodated in private residences, where the regular meetings are held. They are organized to promote the study of good music and would hold their meetings in library hall were it possible to have another place installed for the meetings without hauling it up through a window.

The organization also is sponsor for the MacDowell Junior club. To this organization any child in the city is eligible and beginners are often taken in. The admission is made by the monthly standings of the pupils from their teachers. The idea of this Junior organization is to interest the beginner in good classical music and to do away with the ragtime and other varieties. Thus far this club has been most successful and its concerts, at which the members take part, have proven most valuable.

As there will be no printed program for the concert on Monday of next week, those who plan to attend are urged to cut out the following program to take with them. The following is the music arranged for:

Alba Gondolieri.
Cantone Amoro.

NEW FACTORY NOW OFFERED THE CITY

Paraffin Paper Container Company is Ready to Move to Janesville.

James Cronin, formerly of this city, now of Chicago, with Mr. Shevlin of that city, presented a proposition to the Commercial club directors today for the manufacturing of paraffin paper containers for milk bottles, and food products generally. The container is cheaper to use than other receptacles and the field is claimed to be almost unlimited. The factory is now operating in Chicago and a stock subscription of $50,000 is necessary to bring the plant here. The matter was referred to the industrial committee, M. O. Mount, chairman, for investigation.

A communication from the Woodmen of the World regarding a meeting here in July was read by Secretary McDowell. Some twenty camps will be represented, including the cities and towns between Madison and Janesville. The Commercial club is requested to co-operate with souvenirs, etc.

Report of the Lighting committee, Edward Amerphol, chairman, was made. A meeting with the mayor and council will be held some evening this week to further consider the question.

ENTERTAINED AT ORFORD HOME IN HONOR OF HER DAUGHTER'S BIRTHDAY

Mrs. Frank Ashby of Orfordville entertained Saturday at her home in honor of her daughter, Mary, whose birthday fell on that day. A number of little friends from this city were present at the party, they being the Misses Virginia Ellis, Ruth Douglas, Alta Moore, Elizabeth Gridley, Beatrice Field, Jack Sutcliffe, Beverly Dunn and Venice Nott.

Mrs. L. D. Richardson of Fargo, N. D., and Mrs. J. H. Johnson of Spencer and Miss Bruner of Edgerton spent Sunday in this city.

Mack's Definition.
A successful vaudeville playlet nowadays must have every ingredient of a successful two dollar drama. It must have directness of purpose. It must lead unwaveringly to its denouement. A three-act drama is one-third piffle, one-third explanation and one-third substance minus the piffle and the explanation.—Willard Mack, in Dramatic Mirror.

Reasons.
Human reason is too presumptuous. The moment you have a delightful impulse to do something deliciously silly—and therefore deliciously pleasant—along comes old Human Reason, and tells you not to! Reason thinks it knows it all.

Making a Bluff.
The man who never had more than $10 at one time in his life is usually the lad who examines his change closely when he reads that there is a counterfeit $10 bill in circulation.

ALLEGED CRACKSMAN ON TRIAL TOMORROW

Charles Hayden, Alias Wagner, Once Escaped Jail at Marshalltown, Iowa, Say Iowa Authorities.

Warning was given to the police department this morning from authorities at Iowa, that Charles Hayden, alias Ed. Wagner and Davis, who is awaiting trial at the Rock county jail for attempted burglary, is a member of a gang of expert vegmen who made an attempt to secure his release from the county jail.

A letter was received from R. G. Goodale, county officer at Marshalltown, Iowa, that Hayden or Wagner, with five others, blew open the safe of the Vinniger Works in that city and were captured. On May 16th, 1914, the whole five of the gang escaped by sawing through the bars, it being believed outside aid was given them. Three weeks later all but one of the gang were captured, and returned to the amount of $150 were paid for their apprehension. Hayden, it was said in the letter, was found with the money taken from the safe at Marshalltown and was believed to be the ringleader.

One of the gang of men, who were sentenced for the Marshalltown crime, recently escaped from the government prison at Port Leavenworth where he was serving a term for blowing a postoffice safe. This man is known as Joe Burns. Frank Rogers, another member, the letter stated, is accused of blowing a postoffice safe in Nebraska recently and to date no trace of him has been gained. All of the original gang of six men are now at liberty as far as is known. Telegrams by scores have been received by the police regarding the identification of Hayden and in the trial a set of prison photographs will be introduced as evidence to show that Hayden has served three prison terms for safe blowing.

Louis Avery has been appointed by Judge Maxfield to defend the prisoner in the attempted burglary action, which comes up tomorrow. It is not known whether a jury will be empaneled to decide the case or that the lawyers will agree to try it before the court.

STATE DEPARTMENT FIGHTS LINSEED OIL

Dairy and Food Officials in War With Oil and Its Compounds.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Madison, May 10.—The state dairy and food department is waging war against linseed oil and its compound of turpentine and paint pigments.

Certain companies are underselling dealers in pure oil by an adulterated product and the business has assumed such proportion the department has prepared a bulletin explaining the practice and advising dealers not to take the bait.

"Recently," said George J. Weigle today, "certain companies selling in this state as linseed oil a product containing as high as 50 per cent mineral oil have put into the hands of a number of salesmen whose particular business it is to call attention to garden prizes they offer and to load up dealers with this so-called linseed oil. The cost of the adulterant is always less than that of linseed oil."

STEALS PURSE FROM MAN WHO WAS ASLEEP

Sneak Thief Ransacks Cunningham Residence on Milwaukee Avenue Early This Morning.

A bold sneak thief, who was a novice at picking out valuables in hiding places, ransacked the home of Horace Cunningham, 517 Milwaukee avenue at an early hour this morning, obtaining about fifteen dollars in cash. The money was obtained from the trousers of Mr. Cunningham while the latter was asleep in a room on the second story of the residence. A valuable watch in a vest was left untouched.

With a jimmy the intruder managed to open a window on the west side of the house. The sash was not locked but fitted very tight. The marks on the sill showed that not much effort was required to gain entrance to one of the lower rooms. Down stairs the drawers were looted and searched but nothing has been missed. The thief overlooked, or did not care to take, valuables that were not carefully concealed on the lower floor.

In Mr. Cunningham's room the thief took the trousers, having crossed chairs near the bed, and searched them in another room, where they were found this morning minus the purse which contained several dollars. It is believed the robbery was committed between 2 and 3 o'clock this morning. The burglar first attempted to raise the window on the west side but the Yab residence was too close for his comfort.

It is thought that the same robber tried to enter the Green residence further down the street but was frightened away by the barking of a small dog.

This morning Officer W. E. Gower made an investigation but no trace of the thief was found. The robbery occurred in the third ward of the city, the "Raffles" who caused the police department so much trouble last year but who has been inactive during the last two months.

CHARLES YATES IS FINED FOR AUTO SPEEDING TODAY

Charles Yates, an employee of the Northwestern railway, was arraigned in the municipal court late this afternoon on the charge of auto speeding in violation of the city ordinance. He pleaded guilty, admitting to traveling over twenty miles an hour on Eastern avenue just before being arrested by Motorcycle Policemen Calkins and H. Dougherty that a light fine be given.

Judge Maxfield fined Yates ten dollars and costs, the total being $12.40. The car driven by Yates is owned by C. W. Kemmerer and Yates who was alone, was in a hurry to make the depot from the roundhouse at South Janesville. The fine will be paid this afternoon.

MISS BURGART IS NOT TAKEN TO WAUPUN TODAY

Miss Agnes Burgart, the "school girl" swindler, aged 21 years of age, was not taken to Waupun today by the county jail authorities. It was said a state board of control member of agent was to be in Janesville this evening to investigate her case and take the pretty young lady to Waupun tomorrow. Miss Burgart had many girl visitors Sunday and this morning, who extended their sympathy to the girl in her "apartment" at the city hall.

BETTER DEFENSE IS URGED BY SECURITY LEAGUE IN APPEAL

Barely 30,000 Mobile Troops Are in Continental United States.

New York, May 10.—The National Security League organization formed to conduct a campaign for army and navy preparedness, of which Joseph H. Choate, former ambassador to Great Britain is honorary president, issued today an open letter announcing the result of an investigation by its committee and appealing for support for program for better national defenses.

The league finds, it states, there are barely 30,000 mobile troops in continental United States, that they are so widely scattered as to make their rapid mobilization impossible. That this force is short of officers, ammunition and equipment and has no organized reserves. The national guard is said to be below a strength in men, equipment and efficiency. Coast defenses, the letter continued, are inadequate and fortifications are unscientifically planned and without adequate organized reserves.

Investigation discloses, it is asserted, that the navy is neither adequate nor prepared for war; that it is inadequately manned, is short of ammunition and has no organization of trained men; the submarine fleet exists chiefly on paper; that fast scout cruisers, battle cruisers, seaplanes, mine layers, supply ships and transports are lacking and the target practice has been neglected or altogether omitted. Because of this alleged condition of affairs and because it is manifest that until a workable plan or a world alliance has been voted and agreed to by principal nations with proper guarantees of good faith the United States must undertake adequate military preparations for defense, an appeal is made for support of the following program:

"Legislation correcting present wasteful methods of military appropriation and disbursement; the adoption of a definite military policy; a stronger, better balanced navy; an effective mobile army, a larger and better equipped national guard, the creation of an organized reserve for each branch of our military service."

VANDERBILT TOLD GERMANS WOULD SINK LUSITANIA

Alfred G. Vanderbilt.

Alfred G. Vanderbilt was one of the passengers on the ill-fated Lusitania. Just before the vessel sailed he received this anonymous telegram: "Have it on definite authority the Lusitania is to be torpedoed. You had better cancel passage immediately." The millionaire did not take the telegram seriously.

WOMAN'S PAGE

By RUTH CAMERON

A RARA AVIS.

"She is one of those rare people who seldom give you their opinion unless they are asked for it."

So, I heard a new neighbor of mine characterized.

I felt I should like to know her. Wouldn't you?

For it is indeed rare to find anyone who does not consider the giving of his or her opinion on all subjects as one of the most important functions of existence.

How our neighbors should spend their money.—

How they should bring up their children.—

How they could have avoided misfortunes of all sorts, especially financial.—

When they really should have married instead of the people they did marry.—

How they could dress more tastefully.—

How few of us there are who do not feel called upon to give our opinion on these or similar subjects every day of our lives.

There is a great satisfaction in giving one's opinion. It is such a delightfully painless way of benefiting (?) mankind. Material giving has its disadvantages. It is often a duty which, like having an aching tooth pulled out, is rather a relief to have accomplished but a terrible wrench at the time.

Whereas, giving one's opinion is as easy, natural and painless as breathing.

Giving one's opinion on the various ways in which one's friends and neighbors could improve themselves is, of course, the favorite form of this sport, but giving one's opinion on impersonal things such as an event or a work of art runs it a close second. Many people read books and attend plays not so much to enjoy them as to be able to give some opinion upon them. And having primed themselves, they deliver it with a sonorous self-approval and not the slightest doubt as to its enduring value.

And yet what is conversation?

And yet, you ask me, what should we talk about if we didn't give our various opinions? What is conversation if not the reaction of our minds upon events and personalities and so forth?

Right you are. And very silly you make me seem if you take me in just that sense. Of course comment on things and people and events is perfectly legitimate and of course mere statements of fact would make lifeless conversation.

Living and Letting Live.

But you very well know I didn't mean to suggest that we confine ourselves to saying "It is a dull day" or "I went to the play last night." When my friend says of her friend "She is one of those rare people who seldom give their opinion unless they are asked," she means that she is one of those people who are not forever offering their views on all subjects to the world as of supreme importance, one of those rare beings who are content to live in their own way and let their neighbors live in theirs without saying "I should think."

Of course we must have opinions, but most of us can keep them to ourselves a little more than we do with advantage, and can make sure that those we do advance are worth something.

It isn't plain opinions that are objectionable, but opinionated opinions.

THE TABLE.

Mock Cutlet—Pass any scraps of meat, mixed with herbs, twice through meat grinder; mold it with a little egg into the form of cutlets, and place half an almond, divided lengthwise, at the small end, to represent the cutlet bone. Dip in egg and flour. Place a small cauliflower in the center of a dish, pile the cutlets around, and serve. Some clear gravy should be served separately.

Delicious Cabbage Salad—For one quart finely chopped cabbage use the following dressing: Boil together one-half cup vinegar, two tablespoons sugar, one-half teaspoon salt, one-half teaspoon pepper. Rub together one-fourth cup butter and one tablespoon flour to a cream, add to the boiling vinegar, boil five minutes, then stir in one well beaten egg. Pour over cabbage while hot.

Rhubarb with Tapioca—Cut into small pieces three bunches rhubarb, add one cup water, stew until tender; sweeten with light brown sugar. Cook until clear two tablespoons tapioca in one cup water, pinch of salt. Mix thoroughly together; serve cold.

Strawberry Gelatin—Two tablespoons gelatin, two-thirds cup water, two tablespoons lemon juice, three cups stewed fresh strawberries and juice. Heat berry juice; add gelatin (which has been soaked twenty minutes in the water), and stir until dissolved. Remove from heat; add lemon juice and the berries, and pour into individual molds to set. Serve with whipped cream. Sweeten berries after stewing them.

HAMBURG INSTITUTE HAS MUCH INFORMATION ON THE CONFLICT COMPILED

Hamburg, April 10.—When the war is over the Colonial Institute of Hamburg expects to have on file the first newspaper archives of the great conflict. It already possesses war material in catalogued form that would make the librarian of a newspaper green with envy. The data is catalogued and cross catalogued down to a hair-line fineness, with thousands of clippings on hundreds of subjects, which are being added to at the rate of 500 clippings a day, taken from some 200 papers and periodicals from Germany and other countries.

The archives were established originally to deal with politics and economics, and contain, among other things, information about more than 6,000 commercial undertakings and organizations all over the world. The subjects are arranged according to the countries in which they fall, and are subdivided into more than 100 categories.

The data is apportioned by countries and subdivided so that it is possible to get information from any angle on any phases of the war at a moment's notice.

The main collection is said to be one of the finest in the world, with more than 4,000 plates catalogued. All this material, in addition to a huge library containing all sorts of works of reference, are at the disposal of the public.

The institute has also a publicity department where there are prepared in many languages pamphlets regarding phases of the conflict.

Thus the three March numbers in the English language contain discussions of Germany and the United States of America, the Dardanelles, the Balkans, the German newspaper, regarding various incidents, discussions of questions arising out of war on land and at sea, "Flammarion," financial war news, and various articles on the political economy of Belgium.

ADRIANE

I answered your first letter, but you must have failed to see it in the column. You wrote that doctors had been able to do nothing for your back, and so I said that I would not dare to give you any exercises for fear they would do more harm than good. These you may try, however, with a doctor's assurance that they will not be injurious.

(1) Stand firmly with the heels on the floor and then bend backward as slowly and far as you can. Then, slowly forward, trying to touch your toes with your knees.

(2) Sit down and bend sideward to the left and then to the right. After this, bend forward four or five times moving the body around in a circular movement, first to the left and then to the right.

None of these exercises should be practiced more than four or five times at first.

(3) No, if they do not cure (French heel fashion) toward the ball of the foot.

A druggist will recommend a good cream.

(4) No, but it thickens the blood.

(5) Some think it is better. I prefer a good soap. Separate an egg and rub the white into the scalp until it forms a lather. Then wash the hair.

In reply to C. C.: I have considered your case thoroughly and find that a charity organization is the only thing that can help you. Your name will not become public, and you need not feel that it is a disgrace to consult with them. They may be able to furnish work that you can do, and they will certainly not turn you away without some kind of assistance.

APPLETON'S HEALTH OFFICER SOMEWHAT "GUMMY."

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Appleton, Wis., May 10.—There are boards and boards. One of the local schools has a "gum board." The practice of requiring pupils to throw away their gum when they enter the building struck the principal as wasteful. So a "gum board" was devised to take its place alongside the blackboard. It consists of a board marked out into squares, one for each pupil. When the children enter the room they deposit their quids in their respective squares. When they leave they may retrieve their quids and re-chew them. The principal who designed the "gum" board believes it will be welcomed by the pupils and parents for financial reasons and that it will be more sanitary than sticking the quids under desks and in other concealed spots, where it is possible they may become mixed with others of semi-historic lineage.

Union Grove, Wis., May 10.—Three greenhouses have been erected here for the exclusive cultivation of the "Mrs. Charles Russell" rose. The houses will hold 35,000 plants each and each plant is expected to bear fifteen roses in a season. The houses are the largest in the world for the cultivation of this particular species, and were built at a cost of $55,000. French and Salem of Morton, Ill., have leased the buildings for three years. The first dozen roses to be raised have been contracted for by a Chicago firm for $12.

OSHKOSH FISHERMEN SAY EMINATE THE ROUGH BREEDS.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Oshkosh, Wis., May 12.—Local anglers are unanimous in the opinion that "rough" fish should be eliminated from Lake Winnebago. It is alleged that many thousands of fish have been hatched and planted in these waters, a small percentage get beyond the minnow stage and that the fish hatchery is more of a food incubator for "rough" fish.

The anglers are in accord with the bill before the legislature allowing netting of "rough" fish with proper restrictions. It is claimed that when nets were used in former years the fishing was much better than now. The net fishers killed the "rough" fish as soon as they were taken from the nets and the small fish had a chance to hatch in the natural state. Now the spawn is eaten by the larger fish, such as the carp. The carp will not bite on hooks, and the net is the only remedy except the spear.

Glimpses of Married Life

BY MRS. EVA LEONARD

"Really, Mrs. Morton, I told the doctor I was coming over with him tonight to see if your family looked like such a nest of invalids as the number of doctor's calls would indicate. Do you arrange to take turns being sick?"

Mrs. Ellison had not been in the house since the baby came; she had publicly cut Nell at two gatherings, and had left her off her list of guests when she gave her luncheon, so Nell was surprised to see her at the door. She colored and tried to laugh off the speech.

"I told Dick before his accident that such families as ours would make a living for a doctor, but I think the baby is getting better. Mother seems to know just what to do for him; it's more a matter of nursing than medicine."

"I understood she was here; how you must enjoy her." The emphasis on "enjoy" was unmistakable.

"I do not know what we should have done without her," said Nell gratefully. "I'll call her," and she rose.

"Do not disturb her; the doctor will not be long I think," demurred the lady, but Nell apparently did not hear.

"Oh, mother," she whispered, "come in and help me. That Mrs. Ellison is here. I positively am afraid to be alone with her. I feel as helpless as a lamb alone with a wolf."

"Humph," snorted Mrs. Morton, hanging up her kitchen apron and starting for the living room.

"Good evening, Mrs. Ellison," she said, eyeing her with grim satisfaction. "We haven't met since that afternoon when you took it upon yourself to try to regulate my son's life and show me my duty as a mother."

Mrs. Ellison bowed coldly.

"I understand you have had your hands full since then with other people's affairs," continued the imperious old lady.

A varied interest keeps one young, you know," Mrs. Ellison tossed her head defiantly.

"You will never grow old, then; that must be a great comfort." Mrs. Morton eyed her keenly. "I suppose you know that Miss Rudolph brought Nell the news of Dick's accident and stayed to take care of the baby while Nell assisted the doctor. I thought I'd tell you that she did not see Dick. It's best to have the fountain of information properly informed."

It was evident to Nell that the old lady was enjoying the grilling she was giving the caller, and Mrs. Ellison seemed utterly at a loss. She did not know what to say to this fearless enemy.

"The Scotts were here to call today," said Nell, thinking of the conversation into pleasant channels.

"I learned of your neighborly misrepresentations to Mrs. Scott," continued Mrs. Morton. "I suppose you thought where you were not known your stories were more apt to be believed, but an antidote was administered and the poison proved harmless."

"Really, you speak in enigmas; I fail to understand you," said Mrs. Ellison.

"I think you can puzzle it out if you put your mind to it." The old eyes were looking at her over her glasses. "You ask Mrs. Scott to explain if you do not understand; she'll do it gladly."

Here the doctor came from the bedroom, and Mrs. Morton rose, and with a black look at Mrs. Morton and a frosty good-night to Nell, took her leave.

Talking and Conversation.

How many of us fall into the error of imagining that to be able to talk well is the same as being able to converse well? A good talker is seldom a good listener. But a good conversationalist always is. Conversation should not consist in "listening to yourself in the presence of others."

Heart and Home Problems

By MRS. EDWARD THOMPSON

Letters May Be Addressed To Mrs. Thompson, in Care of The Gazette.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have a friend who went with a girl over a year. He loves her and I believe she loves him, as she received his attentions for so long and refused others. This girl and her brother were invited to a dance downtown. My friend did go, and so I said that I would not dare to give you any exercises for fear they would do more harm than good. The subjects are arranged according to the countries in which they fall, and are subdivided into more than 100 categories.

The data is apportioned by countries and subdivided so that it is possible to get information from any angle on any phases of the war at a moment's notice.

The main collection is said to be one of the finest in the world, with more than 4,000 plates catalogued. All this material, in addition to a huge library containing all sorts of works of reference, are at the disposal of the public.

The institute has also a publicity department where there are prepared in many languages pamphlets regarding phases of the conflict.

Thus the three March numbers in the English language contain discussions of Germany and the United States of America, the Dardanelles, the Balkans, the German newspaper, regarding various incidents, discussions of questions arising out of war on land and at sea, "Flammarion," financial war news, and various articles on the political economy of Belgium.

ADRIANE

I answered your first letter, but you must have failed to see it in the column. You wrote that doctors had been able to do nothing for your back, and so I said that I would not dare to give you any exercises for fear they would do more harm than good. These you may try, however, with a doctor's assurance that they will not be injurious.

(2) Sit down and bend sideward to the left and then to the right. After this, bend forward four or five times moving the body around in a circular

DO AS WELL AS HEAR IS BASIC PRINCIPLE

REV. JOHN McKINNEY URGES
IMPORTANCE OF PRACTIC-
ING CHRISTIANITY

ACT AFTER LEARNING

Following Prayer and Contemplation
There Should be the Active
Striving to do God's Bidding.

The importance of carrying into practice in every day life the teachings of Christ and his gospel was the theme of the Reverend John McKinney at Christ Episcopal church on Sunday morning. His text was from St. James: "Be ye doers of the word and not hearers only."

Reverend McKinney called attention in opening his sermon that it was rogation Sunday, a special day of prayer for special blessings and benefits. "All the bounty that comes to us at the end of the year when the farmer's crops are gathered in comes through the providence of almighty God," said Reverend McKinney. "All that is necessary for us to do is to prepare the soil and wait for the sun, the rain and the dew. The soil is the source of many bounties, but too often is it the case that we take everything for granted. But God expects us to beseech Him for His goodness in seed time. We are thankful and very learned. We know about fertilizers, rotation of crops and improved methods of agriculture. But all our science we know that we cannot create, that we cannot cause the plants to bud or the seeds to sprout. With all our knowledge we are helpless. We must then ask God for His favor and ask Him to send us the showers and the sunshine so that we may have food and meat."

This church, like a mother, reminds us of the proper thing to be done and the right things to be said at the various seasons of the year. It reminds us of the wonderful things that are in her economy and prepares us for the religious life.

St. James experienced the same thing that is evident with us today. He found men who appeared to be religious. They were of the work of God on the right and on the left; they pretended to be believers but they were deceiving themselves. To hear of the wonderful things in God's treasury does no good unless some effort is made to live in accordance with the precepts laid down in the gospels.

"St. James asks us to do a reasonable thing. It is right that we should do as well as hear. This thought was first emphasized by our blessed Lord, who urged the importance of the active side as well as the contemplative and passive side. Both are essential, but to do is our bounded duty; after we have prayed to God and have feared of His word in return He gives us those things for which we have prayed. We must take His teachings into our daily life, test them and prove them to be true. "If you have prayed and had communion with God in your secret closet, opening your heart to God, will you say that you have not been strengthened? Or, will you say that your life has been flooded with light and peace and joy? We must be doers of the word, not so that our doing is offensive, but with tenderness and sympathy, compassion and helpfulness, with the embodiment of love and every virtue. That's how we are to live our religious lives."

Lawyers talk of the practice of law, and doctors of the practice of medicine. Why should we not speak of the practice of religion? Are you ashamed of your Christianity? The world points a hand of scorn at the man who goes to church more than at the man of the world because the man of the world lives true to what he is, the man of the church does not always practice what he hears preached to him. If we are to be followers of Jesus Christ we must do the things He commanded us to do. There is no greater commandment than this: "Do this in remembrance of Me." The sacrament of the Lord's supper brings us very close to God, and yet how often do we come to receive that sacred memorial? How often do we examine ourselves in preparation for it? These spiritual things of which we hear will grow because they are nourished by the blood and body of our Lord. "It is right to pray, it is right to come to church, and it is right to read the Bible, and if you love the Saviour you will keep this great commandment. When you will cease to think of self, but you will think of Him and what He has told you to do. You will live as He wishes you to do, you will love life and character will be changed."

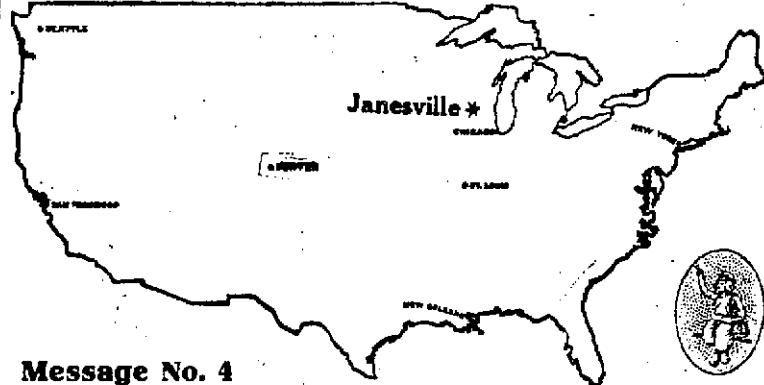

"Not merely hearing, but doing after hearing, practicing after contemplation is necessary for us to grow in the great knowledge of our Lord and Saviour."

STOCK MEN'S BODY BUSINESS IMPETUS

Sales of Pure Bred Cattle Would Bring Purchases From Entire Great Northwest.

The Commercial club during the past few weeks has been endeavoring to promote among the breeders of Rock county pure bred live stock association. They say the opportunity for such an association in this county is at hand. Two of the new members of the club attended a sale of the Lake Mills Holstein Breeders' Association which was held at Lake Mills, May 5th and 6th. To show the interest which is being taken in pure bred live stock it might be noted that one Holstein bull sold for $520 to a farmer from Rock county, J. S. Kemmerer of Clinton Junction bought stock to the value of $700 and J. Green also of Clinton Junction bought stock amounting to $180, a total of $880.00 of Rock county money spent in Jefferson county.

The interest shown in this sale was evidenced by the fact that there were breeders in Lake Mills from points as far west as Wyoming and Montana. Janesville with its hotel accommodations and railroad facilities is in excellent shape to hold a sale of this kind and it would be the interest of the citizens of Janesville and Rock county to use every effort to promote the Breeders' Association. Recently, Dr. W. Munn, visited West Salem, and purchased several head of fancy stock. There is no reason why Rock county with its excellent transportation facilities and fertile soil should not enjoy the benefit of the money that is going to other points members of the Commercial Club say. It might be well in this connection to remember that the Breeders' As-

Message No. 4 To the Business Men of Janesville

A young doctor, making a start in a small town, decided that to be prosperous he must look prosperous. He bought a new buggy and two good horses. Although he had only a few patients he always kept on the jump, attending to his patients' smallest needs. People began to notice this young doctor driving about town and they called him because he looked busy and prosperous. He got his start—a start that led to a comfortable practice.

A town, like this doctor, must look prosperous to be prosperous. Clean streets, attractive store windows, well-painted buildings and dwellings give the prosperous air. Well-painted buildings are greatest of these.

sociation will hold a meeting at the Fair Grounds on May 22nd, and it is hoped that all interested people will make it a point to attend the meeting. There will be prominent speakers from the University who will speak on the advantages of pure bred live stock. The Commercial Club will do everything in its power to promote this association.

HUNDREDS OF K. OF C. ASSEMBLE AT MONROE

Green County Knights Stage Elaborate Entertainment for Eight Hundred Visitors.

One of the greatest gatherings of Knights of Columbus in the past five years in southern Wisconsin or northern Illinois assembled yesterday at Monroe. Eight hundred knights were in attendance. Special trains from the east and west and north arrived previous to 1 o'clock, and many made the shorter trips overland in automobiles.

Monroe council provided some of the most entertaining features ever devised for the occasion of conferring the degree works and subsequent social activities.

The special train from the east arrived at 10 o'clock with delegates from Elkhorn, Delavan, Beloit, this city and intermediate points. One hundred and forty-two Janesville knights made the trip. Arriving at Monroe the special was met by a delegation of the local council and march "Marching to the Right" was the theme of the church where they attended solemn high mass. Father William Mahoney of this city officiating, with the Rev. Father Thomas Dempsey, Monroe, master of ceremonies, and the Rev. Father William A. Gobel of this city as deacon. Father Mahoney delivered a powerful sermon, "Evidences of Catholicity in the Discovery, Colonization, Preservation and Progress of the American Republic." The Janesville priests were a handsome tribute to Catholic men and women who have worked diligently and aided in the up-building of the United States. His sermon was highly opportune.

During the afternoon a class of one hundred and four candidates took the degree work under the auspices of the Monroe, Beloit and Kenosha teams. A banquet during the evening attendance, which crowded the Monroe militia armory to its capacity, requiring a portion of the tables to be reset for about two hundred who were unable to secure a place at the first sitting, proved an occasion and feature in which the ladies did themselves proud. It was a sumptuous repast of home preparation and one besting the taste of the most fastidious epicurean. Expensive and elaborate decorations made the large building a place of great beauty.

The Rev. Joseph E. Hans, state chaplain, Beloit, was toastmaster. Rev. Thomas Dempsey, Monroe, opened the evening with grace. Speakers of the evening were: J. W. Hodges, D. G. K. Monroe; W. H. Dougherty, Janesville; Rev. Norman Drolmiller, State Deputy Walter N. Burke, Kenosha; Dr. T. L. Harrington, Milwaukee; P. H. Conley, Darlington; Thomas Cleary, Plattville; Rev. McGuire, Cuba City; and A. L. Nussbaum, Madison.

TO CONTINUE SUNDAY MEETINGS FOR MONTH

At the men's meeting yesterday afternoon at the Y. M. C. A., a vote was taken to decide whether or not these same meetings would be continued until June first. Then men voted to have the meetings continue, which means that these men's gatherings will be held. Secretary Kline is busy now enlisting prominent speakers to address the men at these closing meetings.

MEETING OF CIVIC COUNCIL WILL BE HELD THIS EVENING

The May meeting of the Civic Council will be held this evening at the assembly rooms of the city hall. As important business is to be transacted all members and club representatives are urged to be present.

BADGER WOULD SWAP LANDS WITH GOPHER

La Crosse Senator Wants to Trade Portion of Upper Wisconsin for Minnesota.

Madison, Wis., May 10.—A bill just introduced by Senator Otto Boshard of La Crosse proposes to trade to Minnesota a certain portion of the towns of Trenton and Isabelle, in Vilas county, and the town of Buffalo, in Buffalo county, for a part of the town of La Crosse, in Wisconsin. This bill accepts the Minnesota lands and cedes the Wisconsin tract to Minnesota. The Minnesota legislature of 1913 enacted a law ceding the Hudson county lands to Wisconsin, and when the Boshard bill is enacted the cession will be complete. The bill provides that no license to sell intoxicating liquor in the ceded territory shall ever be granted by Minnesota or any of its municipalities.

LA CROSSE MEN HEAR OF BAD RAIL SERVICE.

La Crosse, Wis., May 11.—Members of the La Crosse Trade went to Rushford, Minn., today to attend a hearing on conditions governing train service between La Crosse and Austin, Minn., especially in regard to freight service. Complaints have been made of the inability of purchasers to get section to get service from La Crosse.

PAN-AMERICAN CONGRESS OPENS AT WASHINGTON.

Washington, May 10.—A meeting of ministers of finance and bankers of South and Central America, began today in this city. This conference was called by President Wilson to enable the Secretary of the Treasury and American bankers to go over the situation with the South American financiers, the purpose being to devise ways for bringing about a closer financial and commercial union between these countries and the United States. Congress appropriated $50,000 for the entertainment of these bankers as guests of the government, and the situation is now making plans for the affair.

RESINOL BEGINS TO HEAL SICK SKINS AT ONCE

You don't have to WONDER if Resinol Ointment is doing you good. You KNOW it is, because the first application stops the itching and your tortured skin feels cool and comfortable at last. Why don't YOU try this easy Resinol way to heal eczema or similar skin eruption? Resinol clears away pimples, too, and is a valuable household remedy for cuts, sores, burns, chafings, etc. It has been prescribed by doctors for 20 years and contains nothing to injure the tenderest skin. Sold by all druggists.

HOW TO KEEP BABY'S SKIN WELL.

The regular use of Resinol Soap is usually enough to prevent those distressing rashes and chafings to which most babies are subject. This is so, first, because Resinol Soap is absolutely pure and free from harsh alkali, and second, because it contains the Resinol medication, on which so many physicians rely for skin troubles.

INSTANT POSTUM

This pure food-drink has a snappy tang, very like the Old Gov't Javas, but it contains no caffeine, nor any other harmful ingredient. It is made of selected wheat, a little wholesome molasses and is pure, invigorating and delicious.

And Instant Postum is so easy to make. Put a level teaspoonful in a cup, add hot water, and sugar and cream to taste.

The convenience of Instant Postum is seen at a glance. Sold in 30c and 50c tins. Some prefer Postum Cereal—the original form—which must be well boiled, 15c and 25c pkgs.

Grocers sell both kinds, the flavour is equally delicious and the cost per cup is about the same.

Gratified Want Ad. Users

606 Lincoln St., Janesville, Wis., April 29, 1915.

Gentlemen: A short time ago we had some dining room chairs we wanted to sell. It did not take us long to decide how we would find some one who wanted them because we had used the Want Ads before and knew the results. So along the first of April we put in the following ad:

FOR SALE—6 oak, leather-seated dining chairs cheap. Call old phone 1858 at 606 Lincoln St., evenings, or Saturday afternoon. 18-5-12-21.

Do Want Ads bring results? Did we sell the chairs? We had at least ten or fifteen calls. Of course, the chairs were not just the kind that some of them wanted, yet they were just the thing for most of them and we sold them and could have sold them several times.

If anyone has something to sell I advise them to use the Want Ads. We have used them several times and know the results.

Very truly,
MILLIE BRINKER.

Dinner Stories

Josef Hofmann tells of an eminent pianist who was giving a recital and of a man who presented two tickets and was held up by the ticket taker. "You cannot go in," said the latter, "you are not in it condition."

"Didn't I pay for my tickets? Aren't they in order?"

"They're certainly in order, but the truth is you're drunk!"

"Drunk! Drunk!" said the other, placing the tickets solemnly in his pocket. "Of course I'm drunk. If I weren't drunk would I come to a piano recital?"

There was a brigadier general in the Civil war who was so earnest in his religious efforts

Amusements

(Notices furnished by the theatres.) AT MYERS THEATRE.

Charles E. Watt Presents Emil Oberhoffer.
Charles E. Watt, editor of the Music News, printed at Chicago, and one of the recognized authorities on all matters musical in this country, writes as follows on the concert given at Chicago by Mr. Oberhoffer and the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra last February: "One of the greatest of our annual treats is the visit of the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra for there are patrons of music in plenty who consider this body of players more enjoyable than any ever heard in Chicago, and there are still many more who find in the work of Emil Oberhoffer, the director, a vitality, buoyancy, and originality of style which are not equaled by any other conductor before the American public."
Be this as it may, it still remains the fact that the orchestra, as presented this year, is of surpassing worth, and Mr. Oberhoffer is now, as he has always been, fascinating in his personality and charming beyond expression in his readings, while the skill with which he turns his orchestra into an accompaniment body when the soloist appears is not equaled by any one else." In speaking of Mr. Oberhoffer's conducting of the "Oberon" overture by Wagner, he goes on to say: "If any conductor could possibly do more points in the 'Oberon' overture or could possibly more overplay with color and sparkle than did Mr. Oberhoffer, he would be beyond comprehension, for the Minneapolis leader seemed to have exhausted each small possibility and to have combined his research into a mosaic which, while fitting perfectly, piece to piece, was yet a mass of brilliancy, a very riot of tone."
This famous director will appear here with the world-renowned Minneapolis Symphony orchestra, at Myers theatre, next Sunday, matinee only, May 16th.

LYRIC THEATRE.
The Ina Lehr company opens the Lyric Theatre Thursday, May 13th. This company comes well recommended, and of thirteen weeks' engagement in Freeport, Illinois. A company of twelve competent actors, producing all modern plays. Opening play will be "Lena Rivers." Popular prices will prevail.
